Medical Education Week Seminar Series

“Integrating Population Dynamics and a Public Health Perspective Into Medical Education”

By:

Elisa Zenni, M.D.
Assistant Dean for Educational Affairs
Associate Professor, Pediatrics

David Wood, M.D
Associate Professor, Division of Community Pediatrics

Wednesday, April 22
Noon to 1pm
Communicore Building, Room C1-4
(Videoconferenced to Jacksonville/Deal Board Room)

Please email Susan @ ssorci@ufl.edu to RSVP.

Accreditation
The University of Florida College of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit
The University of Florida College of Medicine designates this educational activity for a maximum of 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Disclosure Statement: Drs. Zenni & Wood have stated that they have no relevant financial relationships to disclose regarding today’s presentation.

Questions or Comments? Contact Susan @ 273-7985

Highlights:
• CME Accredited
• Lunch Provided with RSVP

Learning Objectives:
• Discuss the relevance of population and public health principles to undergraduate and graduate medical education.
• Describe the current status of efforts across the country to integrate population and public health principles into undergraduate and graduate medical education.
• Describe approaches to integrate population and public health principles into medical teaching.