University of Florida College of Medicine

Dr Koch,

We are pleased to notify you that Celeste Rousseau has been awarded a 2022 STFM Foundation Student Scholarship from the Society of Teachers of Family Medicine (STFM).

This highly competitive scholarship is awarded to some of the best and brightest medical students from across the country. In addition to recognizing a strong commitment to academic family medicine through scholastic, volunteer, and leadership pursuits, this award acknowledges the recipient's strong potential for a career in academic medicine.

Scholarship Details

- All scholarship recipients receive free registration to attend the virtual 2022 STFM Conference on Medical Student Education scheduled for January 26-28, 2022 and will have the opportunity to present their posters at the conference. Details about specific virtual networking opportunities with those who are passionate about academic family medicine, as well as special events, will be forthcoming.
- Fourth year medical student recipients receive free STFM membership during their first year of residency.
- All scholarship recipients will receive an award certificate, and a link should they wish to share the news of their award on social media.

Institutional Details

- Because the conference is virtual, there are no additional expenses or responsibilities for your institution with the exception of the time needed for recipients to prepare their posters and attend the virtual conference.
- With this email, you will find a press release and social media information for distribution purposes.

On behalf of the 2022 STFM Conference on Medical Student Education Steering Committee, congratulations to your institution and your student.

Best regards,
